

David Stevens, MD, MA (Ethics)
Short Bio

Dr. David Stevens is the Chief Executive Officer of the Christian Medical & Dental Associations (CMDA), the nation's largest faith-based organization of doctors. As spokesman for more than 17,000 doctors, Dr. Stevens has conducted hundreds of media interviews. Prior to his service with CMDA, he served as medical director of Samaritan's Purse. From 1985 to 1991, Dr. Stevens served as executive officer and medical superintendent of Tenwek Hospital in Bomet, Kenya. He helped to transform Tenwek Hospital into one of the premier mission healthcare facilities in that country.

Dr. Stevens' experiences provide rich illustrations for inspirational and educational presentations at seminars, medical schools, conferences and churches. His topics include stem cell research, human cloning, genetics, faith and health, physician assisted suicide, international and community based health care, emergency medical relief, abortion and other medically related subjects. He is the author of Jesus, MD and many chapters and magazine articles.

Dr. Stevens holds degrees from Asbury College and the University of Louisville School of Medicine and is board certified in family practice. He earned a master's degree in bioethics from Trinity International University in 2002 and serves as Vice Chair of the Board and Chair of Governance Committee for Asbury College and on the Christian Institute on Disability Advisory Council. He has regularly taught at the Christian Medical & Dental Associations' educational seminars for missionary physicians and dentists in Kenya, Malaysia and other forums.
